

Privacy Policy

Effective Date: July 10, 2026

Welcome to PRYME. At GOPRYME FINTECH PRIVATE LIMITED ("PRYME", "Company", "we", "our", or "us"), protecting your privacy is one of our highest priorities. We understand that when you share your personal information with us, you place your trust in our Platform. We are committed to handling your information responsibly, transparently, and securely.

This Privacy Policy explains how we collect, use, process, store, protect, retain, and share your personal information when you visit www.prymeloans.in, create an account, compare financial products, apply for a loan, communicate with us, or otherwise use any service offered through the Platform.

Our objective is to ensure that you always understand:

- What information we collect
- Why we collect it
- How we use it
- When we may share it
- How we protect it
- What choices and rights you have regarding your information

This Privacy Policy forms an integral part of the Terms and Conditions governing your use of the Platform and should be read together with our Cookie Policy, Disclaimer, Communication & Consent Policy, and any other legal documents published by PRYME.

By accessing or using the Platform, you acknowledge that you have read and understood this Privacy Policy.

Where your consent is required under applicable law, PRYME will seek your consent before collecting or processing your personal information.

PRYME endeavours to process personal information in accordance with the applicable laws of India, including the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023, the Information Technology Act, 2000, and other applicable rules, regulations, and governmental directions as may be amended from time to time.

Part 1. Scope of this Privacy Policy

1.1 Applicability

This Privacy Policy applies to every individual who accesses or uses the Platform, whether as a visitor, registered user, prospective borrower, applicant, customer, or any other person interacting with PRYME through its digital channels.

This Privacy Policy applies regardless of whether you create an account on the Platform. Even if you only browse loan products, compare financial products, submit an enquiry, or communicate with our customer support team, this Privacy Policy will govern how your personal information is handled by PRYME.

1.2 Platforms Covered

This Privacy Policy applies to information collected through:

- (a) the official PRYME website;
- (b) future mobile applications developed by PRYME;
- (c) customer support interactions;
- (d) email communications;
- (e) telephone conversations;
- (f) SMS communications;
- (g) WhatsApp communications;
- (h) online application forms;
- (i) promotional campaigns conducted by PRYME;
- (j) surveys and feedback forms;
- (k) future digital products introduced by PRYME; and
- (l) any other lawful channel through which PRYME collects personal information

1.3 Purpose of this Privacy Policy

The purpose of this Privacy Policy is to clearly explain:

- (a) what information PRYME collects;
- (b) how information is collected;
- (c) why information is collected;
- (d) how information is processed;
- (e) when information may be shared;
- (f) how information is protected;
- (g) how long information may be retained;
- (h) the rights available to you under applicable law; and
- (i) how you may contact PRYME regarding any privacy-related concern.

This Privacy Policy is intended to provide transparency regarding our information handling practices and should not be interpreted as limiting any statutory rights available to you under applicable law.

1.4 Third Party Services

This Privacy Policy applies only to information processed by PRYME.

Where you choose to proceed with a loan application through a participating bank, Non-Banking Financial Company (NBFC), housing finance company, insurance provider, or any other independent financial institution, your relationship with such institution shall also be governed by its own privacy policy, terms and conditions, and other applicable legal documentation.

PRYME encourages every User to carefully review the privacy policies of such third parties before sharing personal information directly with them.

1.5 Changes to the Scope

As PRYME continues to introduce new products, services, technologies, and business verticals, the scope of this Privacy Policy may expand accordingly.

Where required by applicable law, material changes shall be communicated through appropriate communication channels before becoming effective.

Part 2. Definitions

2.1 Account

"Account" means the registered profile created by a User for accessing personalised features, submitting loan applications, tracking applications, managing documents, communicating with PRYME, and accessing future services available on the Platform.

2.2 Consent

"Consent" means any freely given, specific, informed, unconditional, and unambiguous indication of your agreement permitting PRYME to process your personal information for one or more lawful purposes through a clear affirmative action or any other legally recognised mechanism.

2.3 Personal Information

"Personal Information" means any information relating to an identified or identifiable individual and includes any information recognised as personal data or digital personal data under applicable law.

2.4 Processing

"Processing" means any operation performed on personal information, whether automated or manual, including collection, recording, organisation, storage, adaptation, retrieval, consultation, analysis, verification, transmission, sharing, use, disclosure, retention, anonymisation, deletion, or destruction.

2.5 Platform

"Platform" means the website www.prymeloans.in, together with all associated software, future mobile applications, APIs, dashboards, communication channels, eligibility engines, calculators, customer support systems, and other digital services operated by PRYME.

2.6 User

"User", "You", or "Your" means any individual who accesses, browses, registers on, communicates with, or otherwise uses the Platform in any manner whatsoever.

2.7 Interpretation

Unless the context otherwise requires:

- (a) words importing the singular shall include the plural and vice versa;
- (b) references to one gender shall include all genders;
- (c) references to statutes shall include amendments, modifications, and successor legislation;
- (d) the words "including", "includes", and "such as" shall be interpreted as "including without limitation"; and
- (e) headings are inserted solely for convenience and shall not affect interpretation of this Privacy Policy.

Part 3. Information We Collect

3.1 Overview

In order to provide the Services offered through the Platform, PRYME may collect personal information directly from you, automatically through your use of the Platform, or from authorised third parties where permitted by applicable law and with your consent where required.

The categories of information collected may vary depending upon the Services you choose to use, the financial product selected, applicable legal requirements, and the requirements of participating financial institutions.

PRYME follows the principle of collecting only such information as is reasonably necessary to provide the requested Services, comply with applicable laws, protect the Platform, and improve the overall customer experience.

3.2 Information You Provide

You may voluntarily provide information including, but not limited to:

- (a) full name;
- (b) date of birth;
- (c) gender, where voluntarily provided or required for a particular financial product;
- (d) mobile number;
- (e) email address;
- (f) residential and correspondence address;
- (g) city, state, and postal code;
- (h) employment details;
- (i) employer information;
- (j) occupation;
- (k) monthly or annual income;
- (l) business information;
- (m) GST registration details;
- (n) business turnover;
- (o) existing loan obligations;
- (p) property details;
- (q) purpose of the loan;
- (r) preferred financial product;
- (s) banking-related information required for eligibility assessment;
- (t) communication preferences; and
- (u) any other information voluntarily submitted through the Platform.

3.3 Identity and Verification Information

Where required for processing a financial product application, PRYME may collect or receive documents and information including:

- (a) identity proof;
- (b) address proof;
- (c) income proof;
- (d) employment documents;
- (e) business registration documents;
- (f) GST-related documents;
- (g) property documents;
- (h) bank statements;
- (i) financial statements;
- (j) photographs;
- (k) signatures;
- (l) loan-related supporting documents; and
- (m) any additional documentation reasonably required by a participating lender.

Submission of such documents shall remain voluntary; however, failure to provide documents necessary for processing a particular application may prevent PRYME from facilitating that application.

3.4 Technical Information

When you access the Platform, certain technical information may be collected automatically, including:

- (a) IP address;
- (b) browser type and version;
- (c) operating system;
- (d) device information;
- (e) screen resolution;
- (f) language preferences;
- (g) access dates and times;
- (h) referring website information;
- (i) pages visited;
- (j) session duration;
- (k) clickstream data;
- (l) error logs; and
- (m) other technical information reasonably necessary for operating and securing the Platform.

3.5 Usage Information

PRYME may collect information relating to how you interact with the Platform, including:

- (a) searches performed;
- (b) products viewed;
- (c) eligibility assessments requested;
- (d) applications initiated;
- (e) applications completed;
- (f) customer support interactions;
- (g) promotional participation;
- (h) feature usage; and
- (i) preferences that help improve your experience.

3.6 Communication Information

Where you communicate with PRYME, we may maintain records of:

- (a) emails;
- (b) customer support requests;
- (c) WhatsApp conversations;
- (d) SMS communications;
- (e) telephone conversations, where lawfully recorded;
- (f) grievance submissions;
- (g) feedback;
- (h) survey responses; and
- (i) other communications exchanged with the Company.

3.7 Information from Participating Lenders

Where you have applied for a financial product through PRYME and have authorised the necessary information sharing, participating lenders may provide PRYME with information relating to:

- (a) application status;
- (b) documentation requirements;
- (c) approval status;
- (d) rejection status;
- (e) disbursal status;
- (f) post-disbursal updates where applicable; and
- (g) other information reasonably necessary for facilitating the Services.

3.8 Future Services

As PRYME introduces additional financial products or technology-enabled services, additional categories of information may be collected where reasonably necessary and permitted by applicable law.

Where such collection requires your consent, PRYME shall obtain the necessary consent before processing such information.

3.9 Device Permissions

Depending upon the Services requested by the User and the features enabled on the Platform, PRYME may request access to certain device permissions solely for legitimate and specified purposes and only after obtaining the User's explicit consent wherever required under applicable law.

Such permissions may include, without limitation:

- (a) Camera Access for capturing photographs, identity documents, live verification, video KYC (where applicable), document scanning, or uploading supporting documents;
- (b) Microphone Access where required for video verification, customer support interactions, or other features expressly initiated by the User;
- (c) Location Access for fraud prevention, security verification, regulatory compliance, branch identification, service availability, or other lawful operational purposes;
- (d) Storage or Media Access for uploading documents, photographs, or other files voluntarily selected by the User;
- (e) Notification Permissions to deliver application updates, security alerts, OTP notifications, grievance updates, and other service-related communications.

PRYME shall request only those permissions that are reasonably necessary for providing the relevant Service. Refusing to grant certain permissions may limit or prevent the availability of specific Platform features; however, such refusal shall not affect access to unrelated Services where technically feasible.

PRYME does not access a User's contacts, call logs, SMS messages, photographs, videos, audio files, or other personal device content unless such access is expressly initiated by the User and is reasonably required for a specific Service.

Part 4. How We Collect Information

4.1 Direct Collection

PRYME primarily collects information directly from you when you:

- (a) visit the Platform;
- (b) create an Account;
- (c) compare financial products;
- (d) request an Eligibility Estimate;
- (e) complete online forms;
- (f) upload documents;
- (g) communicate with customer support;
- (h) participate in surveys;
- (i) submit feedback;
- (j) participate in promotional campaigns; or
- (k) otherwise interact with the Platform.

4.2 Automatic Collection

Certain information may be collected automatically through the operation of the Platform using technologies such as cookies, log files, analytics tools, pixels, device identifiers, and similar technologies.

Such collection helps PRYME maintain Platform security, improve performance, analyse usage patterns, and enhance the overall user experience.

4.3 Collection Through Communications

Information may also be collected when you communicate with PRYME through:

- (a) email;
- (b) telephone;
- (c) WhatsApp;
- (d) SMS;
- (e) website chat functionality;
- (f) customer support tickets;
- (g) social media channels officially operated by PRYME; or
- (h) any other authorised communication channel.

4.4 Information Received from Third Parties

Subject to applicable law and your consent where required, PRYME may receive information from:

- (a) participating banks;
- (b) participating NBFCs;
- (c) housing finance companies;
- (d) technology service providers;
- (e) document verification partners;
- (f) identity verification providers;
- (g) Account Aggregator ecosystem participants, if introduced;
- (h) credit information companies where expressly authorised by you; and
- (i) other lawful sources necessary for providing the Services.

4.5 Information Generated During Your Use

As you continue to use the Platform, PRYME may generate operational information including:

- (a) application history;
- (b) eligibility assessment history;
- (c) customer support history;
- (d) consent records;
- (e) login records;
- (f) security logs;
- (g) fraud prevention records;
- (h) communication history; and
- (i) audit records maintained for compliance and operational purposes.

4.6 Information Required by Law

In certain circumstances, PRYME may collect or retain information where required to comply with applicable laws, judicial orders, governmental directions, regulatory requirements, fraud prevention obligations, taxation requirements, or lawful requests from competent authorities.

4.7 Accuracy of Information

You are responsible for ensuring that all information provided to PRYME is accurate, complete, and kept up to date.

Failure to provide accurate information may affect the quality of the Services, the accuracy of Eligibility Estimates, or the processing of applications by participating financial institutions.

4.8 Data Minimisation

PRYME endeavours to collect only the information that is reasonably necessary for the specific purpose for which it is collected.

We do not knowingly collect information that is excessive, irrelevant, or unrelated to the Services requested by you.

Part 5. How We Use Your Information

5.1 Purpose of Processing

PRYME processes personal information only for lawful, fair, and legitimate purposes connected with the operation of the Platform and the delivery of its Services.

The information collected by PRYME is processed only to the extent reasonably necessary to provide the requested Services, fulfil contractual obligations, comply with applicable laws, protect the Platform, improve user experience, and safeguard the interests of Users and participating financial institutions.

5.2 Account Creation and Management

PRYME may process your personal information to:

- (a) create and manage your Account;
- (b) verify your identity;
- (c) authenticate your login credentials;
- (d) maintain your profile;
- (e) enable secure access to Platform features;
- (f) recover access to your Account where necessary; and
- (g) manage your relationship with PRYME.

5.3 Eligibility Assessment

Where you request an Eligibility Estimate, PRYME may process your information to:

- (a) analyse the information submitted by you;
- (b) generate indicative eligibility results;
- (c) compare available financial products;
- (d) recommend potentially suitable loan options;
- (e) improve the accuracy of eligibility assessments; and
- (f) provide a more personalised borrowing experience.

Eligibility Estimates are generated using the information available to PRYME at the time of assessment and are intended solely for informational purposes.

5.4 Loan Application Facilitation

Where you decide to proceed with a loan application through the Platform, PRYME may process your information to:

- (a) prepare the application;
- (b) collect supporting documents;
- (c) conduct preliminary verification;
- (d) communicate with participating financial institutions;
- (e) respond to document requests;
- (f) facilitate application tracking;
- (g) provide procedural assistance before, during, and after disbursement; and
- (h) improve the overall application experience.

5.5 Customer Support

PRYME processes information to provide customer support, including:

- (a) responding to enquiries;
- (b) resolving complaints;
- (c) assisting with technical issues;
- (d) investigating reported concerns;
- (e) providing application updates;
- (f) maintaining communication history; and
- (g) improving customer service quality.

5.6 Security and Fraud Prevention

Your information may be processed for purposes including:

- (a) protecting the Platform against unauthorised access;
- (b) detecting fraudulent activity;
- (c) verifying submitted information;
- (d) preventing misuse of promotional programmes;
- (e) protecting Users and participating lenders;
- (f) investigating suspicious activity;
- (g) maintaining audit trails; and
- (h) preserving the integrity of the Platform.

5.7 Regulatory Compliance

PRYME may process information where reasonably necessary to:

- (a) comply with applicable laws;
- (b) comply with judicial orders;
- (c) comply with governmental directions;
- (d) satisfy regulatory obligations;
- (e) maintain legally required records;
- (f) respond to lawful requests from competent authorities; and
- (g) establish, exercise, or defend legal rights.

5.8 Platform Improvement

Information may be analysed to improve:

- (a) Platform performance;
- (b) user interface design;
- (c) application workflows;
- (d) customer experience;
- (e) system reliability;
- (f) security measures;
- (g) new product development;
- (h) reporting and analytics; and
- (i) operational efficiency.

Where reasonably practicable, PRYME may use aggregated or anonymised information for research, statistical analysis, business intelligence, and service improvement.

5.9 Communications

Subject to your communication preferences and applicable law, PRYME may process your information to:

- (a) send OTPs;
- (b) verify your identity;
- (c) communicate application status;
- (d) request documents;
- (e) provide customer support;
- (f) send security alerts;
- (g) notify you of policy updates;
- (h) respond to grievances;
- (i) inform you about new services; and
- (j) send promotional communications where you have consented to receive them.

5.10 Future Services

Where PRYME introduces additional products or services, including insurance, credit cards, investments, Account Aggregator integrations, artificial intelligence-powered financial tools, or other financial technology services, your information may be processed for those Services after providing any disclosures or obtaining any consent required under applicable law.

5.11 No Sale of Personal Information

PRYME does not sell your personal information to third parties.

Personal information shall be shared only in accordance with this Privacy Policy, your consent, applicable law, or where reasonably necessary for providing the Services.

Part 6. Legal Basis for Processing and User Consent

6.1 General Principle

PRYME processes personal information only where there is a lawful basis for doing so under applicable law.

The legal basis for processing may vary depending upon the nature of the information, the Service requested by you, and the purpose for which the information is processed.

6.2 Processing Based on Your Consent

Where required under applicable law, PRYME shall process your personal information only after obtaining your consent.

Consent may be obtained through:

- (a) acceptance of these Terms and the Privacy Policy;
- (b) selecting consent checkboxes;
- (c) OTP verification;
- (d) electronic confirmation;
- (e) digital authentication;
- (f) document upload confirmations;
- (g) application submission; or
- (h) any other lawful mechanism demonstrating a clear affirmative action.

6.3 Contractual Necessity

Certain information is processed because it is necessary for PRYME to provide the Services requested by you.

Without such information, PRYME may be unable to:

- (a) create your Account;
- (b) generate Eligibility Estimates;
- (c) facilitate loan applications;
- (d) communicate with participating lenders;
- (e) provide customer support; or
- (f) deliver other requested Services.

6.4 Legal and Regulatory Obligations

PRYME may process personal information where reasonably necessary to comply with applicable legal obligations, judicial directions, regulatory requirements, taxation obligations, audit requirements, fraud prevention obligations, or lawful requests from competent authorities.

6.5 Legitimate Business Purposes

Subject to applicable law, PRYME may process certain information for legitimate business purposes including:

- (a) improving the Platform;
- (b) enhancing cybersecurity;
- (c) preventing fraud;
- (d) analysing Platform performance;
- (e) developing new products;
- (f) maintaining operational efficiency;
- (g) resolving disputes; and
- (h) protecting the lawful interests of PRYME, Users, and participating financial institutions.

6.6 Withdrawal of Consent

Where processing is based on your consent, you may withdraw such consent at any time through the procedures made available by PRYME.

Withdrawal of consent shall not affect the lawfulness of processing undertaken before the withdrawal became effective.

The User acknowledges that withdrawal of consent may prevent PRYME from continuing to provide certain Services.

6.7 Consent for Sharing Information

Where you choose to proceed with a loan application through PRYME, you expressly authorise PRYME to share relevant information and supporting documentation with the participating financial institution selected by you for the purpose of evaluating and processing your application.

Such sharing shall occur only for purposes connected with the requested Service and in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

6.8 Future Consent

If PRYME introduces new Services that require additional categories of personal information or additional processing activities, PRYME shall provide appropriate disclosures and obtain any additional consent required under applicable law before commencing such processing.

6.9 Record of Consent

PRYME may maintain records of your consent, including timestamps, authentication methods, IP addresses, device information, and other relevant metadata, for purposes including legal compliance, audit, dispute resolution, fraud prevention, and evidentiary requirements.

6.10 Continuing Responsibility

You are responsible for ensuring that the information and consents provided by you are accurate, lawful, and current.

Where you provide information relating to another individual, you represent that you have obtained all necessary authority or consent required to share such information with PRYME.

Part 7. Sharing and Disclosure of Information

7.1 General Principle

PRYME respects the confidentiality of your personal information and does not sell, rent, trade, or otherwise commercially exploit your personal information.

Personal information shall only be shared where it is reasonably necessary for providing the Services, where you have provided consent, where sharing is required under applicable law, or where disclosure is otherwise permitted under this Privacy Policy.

7.2 Sharing with Participating Financial Institutions

Where you choose to proceed with a loan application through the Platform, PRYME may share relevant information and supporting documentation with the participating bank, Non-Banking Financial Company (NBFC), housing finance company, or other regulated financial institution selected by you.

Information shared may include:

- (a) personal identification details;
- (b) contact information;
- (c) employment details;
- (d) income information;
- (e) business information;
- (f) banking information;
- (g) loan requirements;
- (h) property information;
- (i) documents uploaded by you; and
- (j) any additional information reasonably necessary for evaluating your application.

Such information shall be shared solely for the purpose of processing, evaluating, verifying, servicing, or supporting your application.

7.3 Sharing with Service Providers

PRYME may share information with trusted third-party service providers engaged for purposes including:

- (a) cloud hosting;
- (b) cybersecurity;
- (c) software development;
- (d) customer support;
- (e) document processing;
- (f) communication services including email, SMS, and WhatsApp;
- (g) analytics;
- (h) fraud prevention;
- (i) authentication services;
- (j) secure data storage; and
- (k) other operational services reasonably required for providing the Platform.

Such service providers shall receive only the information reasonably necessary for performing the services assigned to them and shall be contractually required to maintain appropriate confidentiality and security standards.

7.4 Sharing with Regulatory and Government Authorities

PRYME may disclose personal information where required or permitted under applicable law, including in response to:

- (a) judicial orders;
- (b) court directions;
- (c) statutory notices;
- (d) requests from law enforcement agencies;
- (e) governmental authorities;
- (f) regulatory authorities;
- (g) investigative agencies; or
- (h) any other competent authority having lawful jurisdiction.

Where legally permissible, PRYME shall endeavour to limit such disclosure to the information reasonably necessary for the relevant purpose.

7.5 Sharing During Corporate Transactions

In the event of a merger, acquisition, restructuring, amalgamation, demerger, sale of assets, investment transaction, business transfer, or any similar corporate transaction involving PRYME, personal information may be transferred to the acquiring or successor entity, subject to applicable law and appropriate confidentiality obligations.

Any successor entity shall continue to process such information in accordance with this Privacy Policy or a substantially similar privacy framework until revised in accordance with applicable law.

7.6 Professional Advisers

PRYME may disclose information to its professional advisers, including legal counsel, auditors, consultants, accountants, compliance advisers, insurers, or other professional service providers where reasonably necessary for legitimate business, legal, regulatory, or contractual purposes.

Such disclosures shall be subject to applicable professional confidentiality obligations.

7.7 Business Protection

PRYME may disclose personal information where reasonably necessary to:

- (a) protect the rights, property, or safety of PRYME;
- (b) protect Users;
- (c) protect participating financial institutions;
- (d) detect or prevent fraud;
- (e) investigate unlawful activities;
- (f) enforce these Terms;
- (g) defend legal claims; or
- (h) protect the security and integrity of the Platform.

7.8 Aggregated and Anonymised Information

PRYME may generate aggregated, anonymised, statistical, or de-identified information derived from Platform usage.

Such information shall not reasonably identify any individual User and may be used for:

- (a) business analytics;
- (b) research;
- (c) service improvement;
- (d) product development;
- (e) performance reporting;
- (f) operational planning; and
- (g) other lawful business purposes.

7.9 User Consent

Where applicable law requires consent before sharing personal information, PRYME shall obtain such consent before making the relevant disclosure.

Where disclosure is mandated by law, separate consent may not be required to the extent permitted under applicable law.

7.10 No Sale of Personal Information

PRYME does not sell personal information to advertisers, marketing agencies, data brokers, or unrelated third parties.

Any sharing undertaken by PRYME shall be consistent with this Privacy Policy and the purposes for which the information was originally collected.

Part 8. Third Party Service Providers, Participating Lenders, and Future Integrations

8.1 Independent Third Parties

The Platform may integrate with or facilitate interactions between Users and independent third parties.

Such third parties may include:

- (a) participating banks;
- (b) Non-Banking Financial Companies (NBFCs);
- (c) housing finance companies;
- (d) technology providers;
- (e) cloud service providers;
- (f) communication service providers;
- (g) identity verification providers;
- (h) document verification partners;
- (i) analytics providers;
- (j) cybersecurity providers;
- (k) payment service providers, where applicable;
- (l) Account Aggregator ecosystem participants, if introduced in the future;
- (m) credit information companies where authorised by the User; and
- (n) other service providers reasonably required for the operation of the Platform.

Each such entity remains independently responsible for its own services, privacy practices, legal compliance, and contractual obligations.

8.2 Participating Lenders

Where you apply for a financial product through PRYME, participating lenders may independently collect, verify, process, and retain your information in accordance with their own privacy policies and applicable law.

Once information has been shared with a participating lender based upon your request and consent, the subsequent processing of that information by the lender shall be governed by the lender's own legal documentation.

PRYME encourages Users to carefully review the privacy policies of participating lenders before accepting any financial product.

8.3 Credit Bureau Integrations

At the time of publication of this Privacy Policy, PRYME does not obtain your credit bureau report as part of its standard Eligibility Estimate unless you expressly authorise such access through a future integrated service.

Where credit bureau integrations are introduced, PRYME shall provide appropriate disclosures and obtain any consent required under applicable law before initiating such requests.

8.4 Account Aggregator Ecosystem

PRYME may, in the future, integrate with entities operating within the Account Aggregator ecosystem.

Where such services are introduced, PRYME shall collect and process information only in accordance with:

- (a) your explicit consent where required;
- (b) applicable laws and regulatory requirements;
- (c) the operational framework governing the Account Aggregator ecosystem; and
- (d) any additional product-specific terms published by PRYME.

8.5 Artificial Intelligence Services

PRYME may introduce artificial intelligence or machine learning features to improve customer support, financial education, eligibility estimation, document processing, and user experience. Where such services process personal information, PRYME shall implement reasonable safeguards and comply with applicable legal requirements governing such processing.

AI-generated outputs shall be intended to assist Users and shall not constitute financial, legal, tax, or investment advice.

8.6 Security Expectations for Third Parties

PRYME endeavours to engage service providers that maintain reasonable administrative, technical, and organisational security measures appropriate to the services they perform.

However, PRYME cannot guarantee the security practices of independent third parties operating outside the Company's control.

8.7 Changes to Integrations

PRYME may add, remove, replace, or modify third-party integrations from time to time in response to technological, commercial, operational, or regulatory developments.

Such modifications shall not affect the validity of this Privacy Policy unless material changes to information processing require an update under applicable law.

8.8 Limitation

Nothing contained in this Part shall be interpreted as making PRYME responsible for the independent privacy practices, contractual obligations, operational procedures, or regulatory compliance of participating lenders or other independent third parties.

Users are encouraged to independently review the privacy practices of every third party with whom they choose to interact through the Platform.

Part 9. Cookies, Analytics, and Similar Technologies

9.1 Use of Cookies

PRYME uses cookies and similar technologies to improve the functionality, security, performance, and usability of the Platform.

Cookies are small text files stored on your device that enable the Platform to recognise your browser, remember your preferences, maintain secure sessions, and provide a better browsing experience.

9.2 Types of Technologies Used

Depending upon the functionality of the Platform, PRYME may use:

- (a) essential cookies;
- (b) authentication cookies;
- (c) session cookies;
- (d) preference cookies;
- (e) analytics technologies;
- (f) performance monitoring tools;
- (g) security technologies;
- (h) device identifiers;
- (i) local storage technologies; and
- (j) similar technologies that support the operation of the Platform.

9.3 Purpose

These technologies may be used to:

- (a) authenticate Users;
- (b) maintain secure login sessions;
- (c) remember user preferences;
- (d) improve Platform performance;
- (e) analyse user behaviour;
- (f) identify technical issues;
- (g) prevent fraudulent activity;
- (h) enhance cybersecurity;
- (i) measure website performance; and
- (j) improve future products and services.

9.4 Analytics

PRYME may use analytics tools to understand how Users interact with the Platform.

Analytics information may include:

- (a) pages visited;
- (b) navigation patterns;
- (c) device characteristics;
- (d) browser information;
- (e) approximate geographic region;
- (f) session duration;
- (g) referring websites; and
- (h) user interactions.

Where reasonably practicable, analytics information shall be processed in aggregated or anonymised form.

9.5 Managing Cookies

Most internet browsers permit Users to manage or disable cookies through browser settings. Disabling certain cookies may affect the availability, functionality, security, or performance of some features of the Platform

9.6 Future Technologies

PRYME may adopt additional technologies in the future to improve Platform security, functionality, accessibility, fraud prevention, or customer experience.

Where required under applicable law, appropriate disclosures or consent mechanisms shall be provided before such technologies are used.

9.7 Separate Cookie Policy

Additional information regarding cookies and similar technologies may be provided through PRYME's separate Cookie Policy, which shall be read together with this Privacy Policy.

Part 10. Data Security and Information Protection

10.1 Commitment to Security

PRYME recognises the importance of protecting personal information against accidental loss, unauthorised access, misuse, disclosure, alteration, destruction, or other unlawful processing. The Company continuously endeavours to implement reasonable administrative, organisational, contractual, physical, and technical safeguards appropriate to the nature of the information processed.

10.2 Security Measures

Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, PRYME may implement measures including:

- (a) encrypted communication channels;
- (b) secure cloud infrastructure;
- (c) controlled access mechanisms;
- (d) authentication procedures;
- (e) role based access controls;
- (f) audit logging;
- (g) cybersecurity monitoring;
- (h) vulnerability management;
- (i) regular software updates;
- (j) backup procedures;
- (k) disaster recovery planning; and
- (l) employee access controls.

The implementation of any particular safeguard may evolve over time in response to technological developments and operational requirements.

10.3 Employee Confidentiality

Access to personal information is limited to employees, consultants, contractors, and authorised representatives who reasonably require such access for performing their responsibilities.

Such persons may be subject to contractual confidentiality obligations and internal information security policies.

10.4 User Responsibilities

Users also play an important role in protecting their information.

Accordingly, Users are encouraged to:

- (a) maintain confidentiality of Account credentials;
- (b) avoid sharing OTPs or passwords;
- (c) use trusted devices;
- (d) promptly report suspected unauthorised access;
- (e) keep contact information updated; and
- (f) exercise reasonable caution while using public networks.

10.5 No Absolute Security

Although PRYME endeavours to maintain appropriate security standards, no internet based platform, electronic storage system, communication network, or method of data transmission can be guaranteed to be completely secure.

Accordingly, PRYME cannot guarantee absolute security of personal information and shall not represent that any security measure is infallible.

10.6 Security Incidents

Where PRYME becomes aware of a security incident affecting personal information, the Company shall respond in accordance with its internal incident response procedures and applicable legal requirements.

Where notification is required under applicable law, PRYME shall notify the appropriate authorities and affected individuals within the timelines prescribed by law. Where required under the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023, such notification shall be made to the Data Protection Board of India and to the affected individuals in the manner and within the timelines prescribed thereunder.

10.7 Continuous Improvement

PRYME may periodically review and improve its information security practices in response to evolving threats, technological advancements, regulatory developments, operational experience, and industry standards.

Part 11. Data Retention and Deletion

11.1 Retention Principle

PRYME retains personal information only for as long as reasonably necessary to fulfil the purposes described in this Privacy Policy, provide the requested Services, comply with legal obligations, resolve disputes, prevent fraud, maintain audit records, and enforce contractual rights.

11.2 Retention During Active Use

While your Account remains active or while an application is pending, approved, under review, awaiting documentation, awaiting disbursement, or otherwise being processed, PRYME may retain the information reasonably necessary for providing the Services.

11.3 Account Deletion

You may request deletion of your Account in accordance with the procedures prescribed by PRYME.

Where a loan application remains active, PRYME may postpone deletion until the relevant application has been completed, cancelled, withdrawn, or otherwise closed.

11.4 Retention After Deletion

Even after deletion of an Account, PRYME may retain certain information where reasonably necessary for:

- (a) compliance with applicable law;
- (b) taxation requirements;
- (c) audit obligations;
- (d) fraud prevention;
- (e) dispute resolution;
- (f) enforcement of contractual rights;
- (g) defence of legal claims;
- (h) regulatory compliance; or
- (i) other legitimate business purposes recognised under applicable law.

11.5 Anonymisation

Where appropriate, PRYME may anonymise or de identify information so that it no longer identifies an individual.

Such information may be retained for research, statistical analysis, product development, business intelligence, security improvement, or other lawful purposes.

11.6 Secure Disposal

Where information is no longer required to be retained, PRYME shall endeavour to securely delete, anonymise, or otherwise dispose of such information using methods reasonably appropriate to the nature of the information and applicable technology.

Part 12. Your Privacy Rights

12.1 Commitment to User Rights

PRYME respects the rights available to individuals under applicable law and endeavours to provide reasonable mechanisms for exercising such rights.

The availability of particular rights may depend upon the nature of the information processed and the applicable legal framework.

12.2 Right to Access

Subject to applicable law, you may request confirmation regarding whether PRYME processes your personal information and may request access to such information.

12.3 Right to Correction

You may request correction or updating of inaccurate, incomplete, or outdated personal information maintained by PRYME.

PRYME may require reasonable verification before implementing requested changes.

12.4 Right to Withdraw Consent

Where processing is based upon your consent, you may withdraw such consent at any time.

Withdrawal of consent shall not affect processing lawfully undertaken before such withdrawal.

Withdrawal may affect PRYME's ability to continue providing certain Services.

12.5 Right to Deletion

Subject to applicable law and lawful retention requirements, you may request deletion of your personal information.

PRYME shall evaluate such requests in accordance with applicable legal obligations and operational requirements.

12.6 Right to Grievance Redressal

You may submit complaints or concerns regarding the processing of your personal information through the grievance mechanism established by PRYME.

The Company shall endeavour to address such concerns within a reasonable period in accordance with applicable law.

12.7 Verification

For the protection of Users, PRYME may verify the identity of the requesting individual before processing any request relating to personal information.

12.8 Limitations

Certain requests may be declined or restricted where:

- (a) compliance would violate applicable law;
- (b) the information must be retained for legal or regulatory purposes;
- (c) disclosure may adversely affect the rights of another person;
- (d) the request is manifestly unfounded or excessive; or
- (e) another lawful basis exists for refusing the request.

Where a request cannot be fully accommodated, PRYME shall endeavour to provide an appropriate explanation to the extent permitted by applicable law.

12.9 Right of Nomination

Subject to applicable law, you may nominate another individual to exercise your rights under this Privacy Policy in the event of your death or incapacity, in the manner prescribed under the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023, through such mechanism as PRYME may make available from time to time.

Part 13. Children's Privacy

13.1 Services Intended for Adults

The Platform is intended for individuals who are legally competent to enter into a binding contract under the laws of India.

PRYME does not knowingly provide its Services to individuals who are not legally eligible to apply for financial products offered through the Platform.

13.2 Personal Information of Children

PRYME does not knowingly collect personal information from children except where expressly permitted or required under applicable law and after obtaining any consent or authorisation required by law.

If PRYME becomes aware that personal information has been collected in violation of applicable law, the Company shall take reasonable steps to delete or otherwise handle such information in accordance with applicable legal requirements.

13.3 Responsibility of Users

Users represent and warrant that the information submitted through the Platform belongs to them or has been lawfully submitted with the necessary authority.

Users shall not knowingly submit personal information relating to another individual without the lawful authority or consent required under applicable law.

13.4 Parent or Guardian Requests

Where applicable law grants a parent or lawful guardian the right to make requests concerning a child's personal information, PRYME may require reasonable verification before processing such requests.

13.5 Future Changes

If PRYME introduces services specifically intended for minors or legally protected individuals in the future, this Privacy Policy may be amended to reflect the applicable legal requirements governing such services.

13.6 Processing of a Child's Personal Information

Where PRYME processes personal information relating to an individual below eighteen (18) years of age in connection with a User's application — for example, where such information is submitted as part of a dependent's or family member's details relevant to an eligibility assessment — such processing shall be limited to what is strictly necessary for that purpose. PRYME shall not undertake tracking, behavioural monitoring, or targeted advertising directed at any such individual, and shall process such information only with the verifiable consent of the individual's parent or lawful guardian where required under the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023.

Part 14. Cross Border Data Transfers

14.1 Localisation of Lending-Related Information

Notwithstanding anything contained in this Part, personal information collected from a User in connection with a loan application, eligibility assessment, or any other digital lending facilitation activity shall be stored on servers located within India, in accordance with applicable directions of the Reserve Bank of India, including the Reserve Bank of India (Digital Lending) Directions, 2025, as amended or replaced from time to time. The remainder of this Part shall apply only to technical, analytical, and operational information that does not constitute borrower or lending data under such directions.

14.2 General Principle

PRYME primarily endeavours to process and store personal information using infrastructure and service providers that comply with applicable legal and security requirements.

Where necessary for providing the Services or improving Platform operations, certain information may be processed through infrastructure or service providers operating in jurisdictions outside India, subject to applicable law.

14.3 Appropriate Safeguards

Where cross border processing is undertaken, PRYME shall endeavour to ensure that appropriate contractual, organisational, and technical safeguards are implemented to protect personal information.

14.4 Service Providers

Cross border processing may occur where PRYME utilises internationally recognised providers for services including:

- (a) cloud infrastructure;
- (b) cybersecurity;
- (c) software development;
- (d) analytics;
- (e) customer communications;
- (f) authentication services;
- (g) operational monitoring; or
- (h) other technology services reasonably necessary for operating the Platform.

14.5 Compliance

PRYME shall endeavour to ensure that any cross border processing remains consistent with applicable legal requirements and this Privacy Policy.

14.6 Future Regulatory Requirements

Where future legislation or regulatory directions impose additional obligations relating to international data transfers, PRYME reserves the right to implement such measures as may be reasonably necessary to maintain compliance.

Part 15. Third Party Websites and External Services

15.1 External Platforms

The Platform may contain links, integrations, references, or redirections to websites, applications, or digital services operated by independent third parties. Such links are provided solely for the convenience of Users.

15.2 Independent Privacy Practices

PRYME does not own or control third party websites or applications.

Accordingly, PRYME shall not be responsible for the privacy practices, security measures, terms of use, content, products, services, or policies adopted by such third parties.

Users are encouraged to review the privacy policies and legal documentation of every third party before sharing personal information.

15.3 Participating Financial Institutions

Where a User chooses to proceed with a loan application through a participating bank, NBFC, housing finance company, or other regulated financial institution, the subsequent collection and processing of information by such institution shall be governed by its own privacy policy and legal documentation.

PRYME shall not be responsible for the independent privacy practices of such institutions.

15.4 Third Party Technologies

The Platform may utilise third party technologies for purposes including analytics, communications, hosting, cybersecurity, authentication, document processing, and operational support.

Such technologies shall operate in accordance with their contractual arrangements with PRYME and applicable law.

15.5 User Responsibility

Accessing any third party website or service is undertaken voluntarily and at the User's own discretion.

PRYME recommends exercising appropriate caution before submitting personal information to any third party.

Part 16. Updates to this Privacy Policy

16.1 Right to Update

PRYME reserves the right to amend, modify, supplement, replace, or update this Privacy Policy from time to time in response to:

- (a) changes in applicable law;
- (b) regulatory requirements;
- (c) judicial decisions;
- (d) technological developments;
- (e) operational improvements;
- (f) introduction of new products or services;
- (g) cybersecurity requirements;
- (h) business restructuring; or
- (i) other legitimate legal or commercial reasons.

16.2 Publication of Updates

Updated versions of this Privacy Policy shall be published on the Platform together with the revised Effective Date.

Material updates may also be communicated through email, dashboard notifications, website notices, or other authorised communication channels where considered appropriate.

16.3 Continued Use

Your continued use of the Platform after the effective date of any revised Privacy Policy shall constitute acknowledgement of the updated Privacy Policy to the extent permitted by applicable law.

Where applicable law requires fresh consent for a particular processing activity, PRYME shall obtain such consent before undertaking the relevant processing.

16.4 Previous Versions

PRYME may retain previous versions of this Privacy Policy for audit, legal, compliance, operational, or historical reference purposes.

Previous versions may not necessarily remain publicly available after a revised version becomes effective.

16.5 Questions Regarding Changes

Users who have questions regarding amendments to this Privacy Policy may contact PRYME through the official communication channels published on the Platform.

Part 17. Contact Information, Privacy Requests, and Grievance Redressal

17.1 Contacting PRYME

If you have any questions, concerns, requests, or complaints regarding this Privacy Policy or the manner in which your personal information is collected, processed, stored, shared, retained, or protected, you may contact PRYME using the official contact details provided below.

PRYME may update its contact information from time to time. The latest contact details published on the Platform shall prevail.

17.2 Privacy Requests

Subject to applicable law, you may contact PRYME to submit requests relating to:

- (a) access to your personal information;
- (b) correction or updating of your personal information;
- (c) withdrawal of consent where applicable;
- (d) deletion of personal information;
- (e) reporting suspected unauthorised access to your Account;
- (f) reporting suspected misuse of your personal information;
- (g) raising concerns regarding this Privacy Policy; or
- (h) exercising any other rights available under applicable law.

PRYME may require reasonable information to verify your identity before processing any such request.

17.3 Grievance Officer

PRYME shall designate a Grievance Officer responsible for addressing grievances relating to the processing of personal information and compliance with this Privacy Policy.

As on the Effective Date of this Privacy Policy, the Grievance Officer is:

Name: Aadesh Kothari, aadesh.k@gopryme.in, +91 92432 94291.

The Company reserves the right to appoint or replace the Grievance Officer at any time.

Any such appointment or change shall become effective upon publication on the Platform and shall not require amendment of this Privacy Policy.

17.4 Resolution of Privacy Complaints

Upon receiving a privacy-related complaint or request, PRYME shall endeavour to acknowledge the communication within a reasonable period.

The Company shall make reasonable efforts to investigate and resolve privacy-related grievances within thirty (30) days, subject to the complexity of the matter, availability of relevant information, involvement of third parties, or other circumstances beyond the reasonable control of PRYME.

Where additional information is required to process a request, PRYME may contact the User for clarification or supporting documentation.

Where a privacy-related grievance is not resolved to your satisfaction within the aforesaid period, or where you remain dissatisfied with the resolution provided, you may escalate the matter to the Data Protection Board of India in accordance with the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023.

17.5 Verification

For the protection of Users and to prevent unauthorised disclosure of personal information, PRYME may verify the identity of any individual submitting a privacy-related request before taking action on such request.

Failure to provide information reasonably necessary for verification may result in delay or refusal of the request to the extent permitted by applicable law.

17.6 Good Faith Cooperation

Users are encouraged to first contact PRYME directly regarding any privacy concern before pursuing any external remedy.

PRYME remains committed to resolving privacy concerns fairly, transparently, and in accordance with applicable law.

Part 18. Final Provisions

18.1 Relationship with Other Policies

This Privacy Policy should be read together with the Terms and Conditions, Cookie Policy, Disclaimer, Consent and Communication Policy, and any other legal documents published by PRYME.

In the event of any inconsistency relating specifically to the processing of personal information, the provisions of this Privacy Policy shall prevail to the extent of such inconsistency unless otherwise required by applicable law.

18.2 Entire Privacy Framework

This Privacy Policy constitutes the complete statement of PRYME's privacy practices relating to the collection, processing, storage, sharing, protection, retention, and deletion of personal information through the Platform.

Nothing contained in this Privacy Policy shall limit any rights or obligations imposed by applicable law.

18.3 No Waiver

Any failure or delay by PRYME in exercising any right or remedy under this Privacy Policy shall not constitute a waiver of that right.

Any waiver shall be valid only if expressly made in writing by an authorised representative of PRYME.

18.4 Severability

If any provision of this Privacy Policy is held to be invalid, unlawful, or unenforceable by a court or competent authority, the remaining provisions shall continue in full force and effect.

The invalid provision shall, to the extent reasonably possible, be interpreted or replaced in a manner that most closely reflects its original intent while remaining legally enforceable.

18.5 Survival

Any provisions of this Privacy Policy which, by their nature, are intended to survive termination of your Account or discontinuation of the Services, including provisions relating to data retention, legal compliance, dispute resolution, limitation of liability, regulatory obligations, fraud prevention, and protection of PRYME's legal rights, shall continue to remain in effect for as long as reasonably necessary.

18.6 Governing Law

This Privacy Policy shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the Republic of India.

Any dispute arising out of or relating to this Privacy Policy shall be subject to the dispute resolution mechanism and jurisdiction provisions contained in the Terms and Conditions of the Platform.

18.7 User Acknowledgement

By accessing or using the Platform, creating an Account, requesting an Eligibility Estimate, submitting a loan application, communicating with PRYME, or otherwise using the Services, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and accepted this Privacy Policy.

Where your consent is required under applicable law, PRYME shall obtain such consent through appropriate electronic or other legally recognised means before processing your personal information.

18.8 Our Commitment

PRYME was founded with a simple objective: to help borrowers make informed financial decisions with greater transparency, privacy, and trust.

We recognise that protecting your personal information is fundamental to earning and maintaining that trust. We are committed to processing your information responsibly, implementing reasonable safeguards to protect it, complying with applicable legal requirements, and continuously improving our privacy practices as our Platform evolves.

Your trust is one of our most valuable assets, and we remain committed to protecting it.
